The International Green Week 2022 will not be taking place

The fourth wave of Covid infections makes it impossible to achieve the special experience of the Green Week

The International Green Week 2022 (21 to 30 January) will not be taking place.

The reason is the rising number of infections in Germany due to the fourth wave of Covid infections, as well as current and anticipated pandemic-related restrictions.

"The International Green Week thrives on people meeting each other and being able to sample, taste and discover things.

Under the current circumstances, with face masks and physical distancing, we cannot fulfil the expectations of our visitors to the Green Week", said Lars Jaeger, the project manager for the International Green Week at Messe Berlin.

Since 1926 – International & Unique

The 87th (96 years) International Green Week will take place in January 2022.

Founded in Berlin in the Golden 20s (1926), IGW is a one-of-a-kind international exhibition of the food, agriculture and gardening industries.

Popular with consumers and trade visitors

IGW is the origin of the Global Forum for Food and Agriculture (GFFA).

This is where over 70 international ministries and food producers meet – their displays reveal the fascinating world of the food and beverage industries.

Where tradition and future meet

Everyone who has been around since 1926 knows how traditions are maintained, as well as how innovations are created in order to ensure continuity.

Renewable resources, organic agriculture, gardening and the future of rural development continue to gain importance at International Green Week.

The Green Week Experience:

- Comprehensive range of international and domestic foods and beverages
- The very finest produce
- Product markets for beer, wine and champagne, meats and sausages, seafood, teas, herbs and spices
- Agricultural and horticultural machinery and equipment, seeds and greenhouses
- HIPPOLOGICA - the horse tournament
- Gardening supplies, breeding stock, pets and everything relating to hunting and fishing
- Kitchen appliances, kitchen fixtures and household appliances
